Employees of Madison County approve raise

Ratification of a one-year agreement for 470 Madison County government employees was voted Thursday evening by Local 799, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

The new contract, retroactive to Dec. 1 for the December 1979-November 1980 county fiscal year, is subject to approval by the Madison County Board at its monthly meeting at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Negotiations began in the early fall. Agreement was reached by the two bargaining teams Wednesday evening. An earlier proposal had been rejected on Monday.

Less than a half-hour was required for the ratification by employees

Thursday night. Details were not announced but it was indicated that the pact calls for a 30-cent hourly cost-of-living raise.

In addition, there will be a one-cent raise for each half-percent rise in the U. S. Consumer Price Index, which measures retail price changes. Based on the first three quarters of 1979, with the index up 10.9, there would have been a 21.8-cent pay increase.

Also scheduled for County Board consideration Wednesday are 13 five-acre tracts to be developed by Kelly Datto and Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk near Arlington Heights.

The Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals, headed by Roy H. Fruit, recommended last week that the county grant the developers' request for zoning variations in order to develop the land, located within flood hazard areas of Nameoki and Collinsville townships. At present, the zoning is agricultural.

A related article appears on Page 17 of today's Press-Record.

Meanwhile, preliminary estimates show that it might cost more than $1 million to build a 32-cell wing onto the new county jail that is currently nearing completion. Whether to plan such an addition now or within several years has been under discussion by the board's Building Committee.

Federal funds may be available for the project, committee members believe.

Building sale to close Green Dragon parlor

The Pontoon Beach Lions Club has purchased the building at 3901 Lake Drive for a Lions Den (meeting place). It was announced today by Lion David Schermer, chairman of the club's building committee.

The structure was purchased from Carl Hackney for $47,500.

The Green Dragon Spa and a beauty shop are currently occupying the southern part of the building and have been notified their lease will end on March 31.

A barber shop that is in the northern corner of the building will remain.

The club will begin remodeling work on April 1 and has budgeted $3,000 for the remodeling.

The Pontoon Beach Lions have been looking for a suitable place to meet since 1977. The Lions plan to put in a kitchen and will have one large meeting room with sliding doors.

The Pontoon Beach Lions Club will also meet in the building.

Dr. George Goodwin is president of the Pontoon Beach Lions.

The service club has 26 active members and meets on the first and third Thursdays at 6:30 p.m.

NEARING COMPLETION. A 20-inch diameter steel pipeline which will carry steam from the blast furnace division of Granite City Steel on Edwardsville Road to the steel mill southwest of 20th Street is almost ready for use. This portion of the 8,500 foot pipeline is along Edwardsville Road near 21st Street.

The right angle joints which make "loops" at precise intervals are designed to allow expansion of the steam as it travels through the line. Elevated approximately 14 feet above ground, the steamline will reduce the consumption of natural gas and fuel oil at the steel mill used for the production of steam.

Steam is utilized in several applications in the steelmaking process.

A metallic insulating material has been installed on most of the straight lengths of the pipeline and will be put onto joints and elbows when finished. The pipeline is supported by steel beams bolted to concrete piers, with steel cables suspended above to ease stress on the line.

Helicopters have been used to lift many of the sections of pipe into place since the project began last summer.

Woman found dead; investigate intruder

Mrs. Olivia Haven, 62, of 2417 State St., was pronounced dead in her fire-damaged home at 2:15 a.m. Sunday by Dick Mizell, deputy coroner for Madison County. A preliminary investigation showed an intruder apparently had forced his way into her apartment.

An autopsy was scheduled to be conducted Sunday.

Tommy Hudson, who lives in an apartment upstairs in the same building, woke and smelled a faint odor of smoke.

He then went downstairs and found the smoke odor strong in the basement.

He woke his wife. As they were leaving the building, they stopped at Mrs. Haven's door; when he knocked on it to alert her, the door opened.

He then told his wife to call the police and fire department, as the kitchen was full of smoke.

Mrs. Haven's body was found on the floor on the west side of the kitchen near a table. A slipper on her right foot had been completely burned off.

A pile of ashes were found on the kitchen table. The rug underneath the table and two chairs had burned.

A television set in the kitchen was turned on.

Police found that the rear door had been apparently forced, and the inside back door latch had been broken.

A pathologist from the Madison County coroner's office conducted an autopsy Sunday afternoon at Mercer Mortuary, and Mrs. Haven's death was found to be due to smoke inhalation, based on initial conclusions of the autopsy.

An inquest is pending. It is possible that Mrs. Haven fell asleep while seated at the kitchen table, a deputy coroner said today.

A native of St. Louis, Mrs. Haven had resided here the past 40 years. She had retired in 1970 from the payroll division at the Granite City Army Installation.

She was a member of Trinity United Methodist Church.

Her husband, Edward Haven, died in 1978.

Surviving are a son, George W. Haven of Springfield, Ill.; and a grandson, Patrick W. Haven, also of Springfield.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

Concern on grain embargo

By ROBERT ESTILL

Press-Record

Washington Bureau

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., will be attempting to convert grain to political hay when he carries his campaign to Illinois, the nation's leading feed grains exporter.

President Jimmy Carter dealt Kennedy a sorely needed card when he embargoed grain sales to the Soviet Union as a response to the Russian invasion of Afghanistan.

The senator will play that card to the hilt in Illinois by hammering away on the theme that the embargo hurts not only farmers but all taxpayers, according to Terry Michael, Kennedy's Illinois campaign press secretary.

The cost of propping up farm prices to partially offset the embargo has been pegged by the Carter administration at between $2.5 billion and $3 billion, some of which will be recovered eventually when the government sells the $2.25 billion worth of grain it buy from export companies that had contracts with the Soviet Union.

Kennedy scored points with Iowa farmers by saying he would never impose a grain embargo, and that position should help him in Illinois' March 18 primary.

As the state that produces about 20 percent of all feed grain exports, Illinois has even more to lose than Iowa

School hiring within Venice district lines

By VALERIE EVENEDEN

of the Press-Record

An amendment to the existing employment policy—and written clarification of the circumstances under which sick leave, disability and leaves of absence will be granted—were approved Thursday night by the Venice Board of Education.

The amendment to the employment policy primarily affects non-teaching staff members.

Board members voted to include in the existing policy the statement:

"All non-teaching staff hired after Sept. 1, 1979, will be required to reside in (Venice School) District 3.

"Non-teaching staff hired after Sept. 1, 1979, who move out of District 3 will be dismissed from employment."

"The board reserves the right to make exceptions in the hiring clause in the event that it is impossible to secure a qualified district resident for a critical position."

Discussions concerning the amendment have taken place at earlier meetings of the board and the policy change was passed without lengthy debate.

Disagrees with 'undisclosed' fee

City Attorney Lance Callis said Thursday afternoon he disagrees with the word "undisclosed" in Thursday's headline on legal fees on city bonds.

The figure of $15,000 was given to a newsman at the close of a City Council meeting and the newsman wrote it down, although the amount did not appear in the subsequent news article, Callis said. The newsman was unavailable during the weekend regarding his recollection of the meeting.

Related articles appear on Pages 8 and 13 today.

Club compares film, TV show

One should stop and think before accepting news from only one media source, Breakfast Kiwanis President William L. Fever said Thursday.

Kiwanian Charles Deal showed the club a film made by Illinois Power Company which tells the company's side of the nuclear power electricity generating plant at Clinton.

The plant's construction was the topic of a 60 Minutes television program.

IP filmed Harry Reasoner's entire interview with power company officials and alleges that the condensed version of the interview, as seen on TV, cut out most of the footage that would have presented a more balanced and factual report on the plant.

"When one sees the entire interview and also sees what Reasoner presented on 60 Minutes, it makes one stop and think just what they are doing or are capable of doing."

"I wish every school child could see the way this story was reported and what actually, in fact, took place. We need to teach our children and others, not to just rely on one source for information, but that they had better read newspapers and not just rely on the electronic media," Fever said.

The Breakfast Kiwanis will hear from Mrs. Melba Grady representing Parents of Special Education Children at the club meeting on Thursday. The Breakfast Kiwanis send several special education children to summer camp each year.

Bilich is to be in court on Feb. 25 to answer the charge.

5-car crash 3 hurt in Three Granite City women were injured in a five-car chain-reaction accident, on Route 162 at Maryville Road, at 12:55 p.m. Saturday.

State police said the accident occurred when four westbound autos were on Route stopped for a red traffic light and the westbound auto of Sandra Bailey, 28, of 2548 E. 24th St., was unable to stop before striking the last car in the line, which was driven by Betty J. McGee, 45, of 2409 Washington Ave.

Mrs. McGee's auto was pushed forward into a third auto, which then struck the one in front of it and the chain-reaction struck the first car in line. The drivers of the front three autos were not injured. Their names were not available from state troopers.

Squirrel's bite

Telephone company biologists, studying damage caused to wires and cables by biting animals, calculate the biting pressure of a gray squirrel at 22,000 pounds per square inch, of a gopher, 18,000, and of a common rat, 7,000. For comparison, the pressure of a shark's bite is 44,000 pounds.

The two injured drivers and a passenger were taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where all were released after treatment.

Mrs. Bailey suffered minor pain. Mrs. McGee suffered pain to her neck and right leg and Sheryl McGee, 16, also of 2409 Washington Ave., suffered minor pain, authorities said.

Bulletin

It was announced at 10:30 a.m. today that a tentative agreement has been reached between representatives of Granite City, Madison and Venice and the Tri-City Regional Port on steps to acquire the southeast section of the Granite City Army Installation for development as an industrial park.

The officials met today after conferring jointly Thursday with representatives of the U.S. General Services Administration.

Procedural clarification is being obtained on the financing of the acquisition and on related aspects, including utility separations and moving of raw materials currently stored on the property.

There have been indications that a joint venture involving three local governmental entities is being discussed with the GSA.

Today's announcement did not relate to that point but mentioned that further negotiations are to take place among the legal representatives of local governmental agencies.

Fire set: rescue man

Someone apparently poured gasoline around the foundation of a house at 8:30 p.m. Sunday and set it on fire, according to Le Paul, chief of the Mitchell fire department.

The house belongs to Ruby Foster and is located two miles east of Highway 111 on Chain of Rocks Road. Damage is estimated at $1,000.

Two neighbors, David Ingram and Mark Porter, saw the fire and went to the home, waking up John Danner, who rents the upstairs.

Another neighbor telephoned the Mitchell fire department, which responded with 10 men, a pumper and a rescue emergency truck.

Three charged following fight

Three persons were charged with disorderly conduct and released on $35 cash bonds following a weekend fight in the 2500 block of Northbridge. Charged were Sean Guffey, 17, St. Louis, and James Daugherty, 26, and his wife, Karen, 23, both of 2525 Northbridge.

Police were advised that a fight was in progress. Upon arriving, they alleged finding 10 or more people shoving and arguing with each other.

Officers said they ordered them to disperse; when several refused, more police were called. The three allegedly refused to leave and started fighting and arguing with police. The original cause of the incident is unknown.

Burglar hits woman

A burglar wearing a black ski mask struck Diane Gulbranson, 4510 Nameoki Road, with a fist when she surprised him in her home about 9:30 p.m. Saturday. The victim said she was in the basement when she heard footsteps in her home; believing it was someone she knew, she did not investigate immediately.

When she did go upstairs, she saw a man, about six foot, four inches tall, who weighed about 230 pounds, in an office in the home, searching through desk drawers.

When he saw her, he ran toward her, struck her face with a fist and ran out the rear door.

Desk drawers has been opened and envelopes were scattered on the floor. Bedroom drawers also were ransacked and a $20 bill was taken from her purse in the living room.

Entry was believed gained by using a key that had been hidden.

Life-safety compliance work

Updating conditions in the Venice school buildings to comply with Life-Safety Code regulations, a subject discussed periodically in meetings of the Venice Board of Education, was renewed Thursday night's board session.

Members invited Granite City architect Henry Gabriel to explain what steps are required to bring the buildings into compliance.

Gabriel reported the last updating under the code was in March 1968 when none of the buildings were considered eligible to be certified.

Since that time, several modifications have been completed as recommended in the initial survey, it was noted.

Gabriel said many school districts in the county educational service region are not yet in compliance due to cost factors.

"The five-cent levy for this purpose just isn't enough to do it all at once."

The architect continued, "If there is any building you think may be in compliance we will be glad to inspect it and certify it."

"The necessary work can be done on a building-by-building basis."

"Many districts start with a specific building, either the smallest or the largest, and get it into compliance."

"As long as the regional superintendent knows that you are working on it (updating procedures), I think you will be all right," Gabriel said, adding that he understands that buildings must be recertified every 10 years.

He noted that specific items are mandatory and immediate attention is required, such as safety devices and controls on heaters and boilers and proper grounding of electrical equipment in the shop areas.

"Anything marked in the original survey as priority one and two items must be done," he explained.

Some concern was expressed about the school's fire alarm system and Gabriel was asked if it is necessary for the alarm to be hooked into the local fire station.

If the system is in good operating condition, sufficiently loud and can be activated easily, it is not necessary to be linked to a fire station, the architect said.

Grain embargo

from the cancelled grain sales to the Soviets.

Illinois presumably would have provided about a fifth of the 17 million tons of grain that would have been sold to the Soviets, according to John Ochs, an Illinois Agriculture Department spokesman.

"We got even with the bully on the block by hitting ourselves in the eye," Ochs said.

The embargo will hurt farmers financially in both short and long-range terms, Ochs said.

In the short term, it will mean grain prices could drop as much as 50 cents a bushel, Ochs said.

Based on Illinois' 1979 production of 1.5 billion bushels of grain, a 50-cent-a-bushel price dip would mean an income loss to Illinois farmers of $750 million.

Spread over the state's 80,000 operating farms, the loss comes to about $9,375 per farm.

Carter's raising the loan rate to farmers who store grain until market prices rise will provide little relief for Illinois farmers, since 92 percent of them do not qualify for loans, Ochs said.

Only about seven percent of them participated in the 1979 crop set-aside program, a prerequisite for the loans.

Increased use of corn and other feed grains to make gasoline would take up no more than two million bushels of grain originally intended for the Soviets, because of limited distillery capacity, Ochs said.

In this regard, Illinois farmers may lose the Soviets as a future market, as the Russians turn to U.S. grain competitors to meet their needs, Ochs said.

"He notes that this is what happened in 1974 when soybeans were embargoed. Japan, which had been a big consumer of U.S. soybeans, turned to Brazil, and Brazil is now the biggest competitor of the U.S. in soybean sales.

If it were just the farmers who would be hurt, the embargo might not make such a good selling point for Sen. Kennedy in Illinois and other grain producing states.

Farmers make up only about four percent of the electorate. More than half (56 percent) of the Illinois Democrats who voted in the 1976 presidential primary were from Cook County, and there is no grain grown in Chicago.

But the point Kennedy will be stressing as he campaigns in Illinois—particularly in the Downstate area—is that the price of the cancelled sales ultimately will be borne by the taxpayers, Michael said.

He cannot see that (the embargo) will do any good, but he said Carter, who knows Illinois politics well from his days on the Democratic state legislative staff and as president of the U.S. Cong. Paul Simon, D-Carbondale.

Equally important, from Michael's point of view, the president is now open to fire from politicians who were reluctant to criticize him because of the Iranian situation.

"We are now moving into a situation where people do not have to handle the president with kid gloves," Michael said.

"We can start being critical of Pres. Carter on domestic policy and question what he is doing domestically, as well as begin to be able to criticize him for foreign policy.

"When you start doing that, the people start remembering some of the things they did not like about Jimmy Carter before, things that had been suppressed because people rallied around the president in a show of patriotism."

The main response from the White House to Kennedy's embargo barbs has been to question why the senator did not deliver similarly vehement protests when Republican administrations imposed agricultural embargoes in 1973 and 1975.

VICE-President Walter Mondale said Thursday Sen. Kennedy was putting politics ahead of patriotism.

Sen. Kennedy said Thursday evening he doesn't regard Mondale as having the right to judge the patriotic record of Kennedy or members of the Kennedy family.

Allege youth sprays officers with Mace

Four charges were filed early Friday against a youth who allegedly held officers at bay with a knife and then sprayed them with Mace, a chemical agent.

Police were called at 4:45 a.m. to the home of Darmond H. Broyles, 2548 Benton St., where a disturbance was reported taking place in the front yard. Officers were met by Broyles who said his stepson, Michael A. Niskenowicz, 17, of the Benton address was in the basement.

In the basement, officers alleged finding the youth holding a knife. He allegedly told police to leave, saying they would have to shoot to take him to jail.

Efforts were made to calm him, but he allegedly smashed several pieces of furniture with a metal belt while talking. It was alleged he approached the officers several times with the open knife.

While the belt was being swung, the knife fell from his hands; as officers came close to him, the youth allegedly sprayed them several times with Mace before being handcuffed.

He was charged with aggravated assault, unlawful use of a weapon, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

Impact group to stress health-related education

The Madison County Local Impact Committee of the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency (HSA) will hold its first meeting of the year at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital, Route 162, Maryville.

Milton Morris of the Local Impact Committee, said the focus of the meeting will be on health education in Madison County school districts.

"Health education in our schools seems to be the most feasible, cost-effective way to improve the physical and mental well being of our county residents. If we do not act now, if we are not successful, then we lose an entire generation. We cannot afford a loss like that," he commented Friday.

Morris added that the committee will be establishing a health education task force to work with the school districts to develop a model health education curriculum program.

"The Impact Committee would like to involve people from the entire county to participate in this and other health-related programs," he said.

School hiring

The existing policy relating to employment in the school district, states:

"The Board of Education conceives its principal function is to provide those policies, material and human facilities, that will enable the children in this district to acquire the skills and attitudes that are needed to function effectively in our complex society."

"To this end the Board of Education will endeavor at all times to employ and retain the services of teachers and administrators who are well qualified, fully certified and professionally competent."

"It is the policy of the Board of Education to employ, demote and discharge staff members and other employees only upon the recommendation of the superintendent."

"Residents of District 3 will be given preference in all hiring if they are qualified for an existing vacancy or position."

"Nothing in this policy is to supersede the seniority clause in the working agreement between teachers and the Board of Education."

In reference to the approval of sick leave, disability and leaves of absence, as set forth in the working agreements with Teachers Local 965 and Building Services Employees Local 96, the board has agreed to pay major medical insurance premiums.

surrounding circumstances under which payments may be made also has been the subject of several prior discussions by the Venice Board of Education.

Approved Thursday night by the board was the establishment of the following policy:

"1. Subject to the exceptions listed in paragraphs 2 and 3 below the agreed maximum period of time for which the Board of Education is responsible for paying premiums is 12 months from the beginning date of each school year."

"2. Employees who resign or are terminated by board action will have premiums paid for the month in which the resignation or termination occurs."

"3. Retiring employees will have their premium paid for the month in which the retirement is effective. Retired employees who wish to retain their coverage in the district group policy may do so provided they assume responsibility for premium payments."

"4. When an employee has accumulated sick leave and is still absent due to illness, the district will consider the employee to be on disability leave and will no longer be responsible for the payment of insurance premiums. Employees in this category may pay their own premium and continue their insurance coverage with the district group, provided the employee's leave is approved by the Venice Board of Education."

"The district will not discontinue payment of premiums until contact or arrangements have been made for the employee to stipulate whether he or she wishes to continue the coverage."

"5. Any employee who is granted a leave of absence by the Board of Education shall be ineligible for district-paid major medical insurance for the duration of the leave. The effective date shall be the first day of the month which follows the month in which the leave is granted. Employees will be permitted to retain their insurance coverage within the group, provided the employee makes all premium payments when due."

Initially, it was suggested the policy items be discussed further in executive session, but when offered for a vote of the board members, both were passed unanimously without comment.

Shortage of workers here in 10 occupations

Local private employers who were polled in a survey conducted by the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Private Industry Council (PIC) cited occupations in which they experienced a critical shortage of qualified workers.

Machinists, maintenance mechanics, secretaries, automatic data processing operators, typists, salespersons, general office clerks, accounting clerks, draftsmen and toolmakers were identified among the top labor shortage occupations in this metropolitan area.

The survey will assist the newly-formed Private Industry Council and area Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) prime sponsors in their efforts to target CETA training programs to the needs of area employers.

The council is comprised of business, labor and community representatives from the bi-state region and is working in conjunction with the Regional Commerce & Growth Association.

The council works closely with the area's six CETA prime sponsors, including the Madison County Office of Manpower Development to increase private sector participation in their Private Sector Initiative Programs (PSIP), which are intended to ultimately increase employment opportunities for the economically disadvantaged.

Employers who have experienced difficulty in finding qualified applicants for the above occupations may contact the Employment Programs Department staff of the RCGA at 314-251-5555.

Vehicle strikes pole on Madison

Jamie Durrett, 409 East Chain of Rocks Road, sustained injuries while a passenger in a vehicle operated by David W. Chilcutt, 19 Moorland Drive, which struck a utility pole in the 2600 block of Madison Avenue at 10:40 p.m. Thursday.

Chilcutt said the mishap occurred when the driver of a 1977 blue Lincoln apparently lost control of his vehicle and skidded sideways, taking up both traffic lanes.

To avoid the auto, Chilcutt said, he drove off the road and struck the pole.

Gets cigarettes, oil from station

Sixty cartons of cigarettes and six quarts of engine oil were taken in a burglary at the Olympic Service Station, 20th and Adams Streets, discovered at 2:10 a.m. Friday.

A patrolling officer noticed a door on the north side of the station standing slightly ajar and investigated. He then notified an employee, John DaBoise, who reported the items were missing.

School snowstorm schedule is outlined

By SUPT.
B. J. DAVIS

It is the general procedure of Granite City Community Unit School District 9 to keep schools open during inclement weather.

Only when it is impossible for buses to run is school canceled, and this determination is made by the bus company and the school administration.

The policy, however, regarding inclement weather makes a substantial change in bus schedules and starting times for schools, in order to keep schools open and maintain the required five hours of instruction.

The superintendent or his designee may declare a "snow schedule" and when this is declared, the following operation will be put into effect:

1. News media will be notified. Check radio stations WGN, KMOX, KKOK or KSD for announcements. Please do not call the school offices.
2. Opening school times will be delayed.
3. High Schools delayed until 9:30 a.m.
4. Junior High schools delayed until 10 a.m.

Elementary schools — no delay — normal scheduled time.

3. Bus schedules will be established as follows: Elementary pickups begin at 8:15 a.m.

Junior high pickups begin at 9:25 a.m.

Senior high pickups begin at 9:30 a.m.

4. Staff will report as usual.

5. Dismissal times will be as normally scheduled for all schools.

Rationale for this schedule:

A. In a great percentage of homes, both parents work; if school is not in session, parents have baby-sitting problems.

Children are often without proper supervision, which creates a very undesirable and unsafe condition. The Board of Education feels, as parents, that children are better off in school than out playing in the rain, snow and ice.

B. State law requires that schools be in session a minimum of 176 days; and if the school year is short due to emergency closings, all remaining vacation days in the calendar must be eliminated or the school year extended. State aid is in jeopardy if requirements are not met.

C. If the school year is extended, this entails additional costs of teachers' salaries.

Please remember, schools will usually be open during inclement weather, and the "snow schedule" will not be put into effect during every snowstorm but only when conditions make it necessary.

Police recover burglar's loot

During their investigation of last week's shooting at Hanlon's Lounge, 1417 Twentieth St., detectives questioned a Belleville man who volunteered information that possible loot from burglaries was at his home.

The man said the items, including weapons and radio equipment, were brought to his trailer in December by a Granite City man who has since been sent to the penitentiary for burglary.

The Belleville resident said the convicted man had been looking for a place to live, and he gave the man a key to his trailer.

Shortly afterward, he noticed various items showing up at the trailer, he said.

The man questioned gave police his consent to search the trailer in Belleville, stating that he didn't want the items there if they proved to have been stolen.

In the trailer, the detectives found two radio scanners, a 23 channel CB radio, a magnetic antenna, a 22 caliber bolt action Winchester rifle and scope, and a remote control tuner.

Also, a police radio scanner, ammunition of various caliber, a Winchester pump rifle, a Mossberg 12 gauge shotgun with pump action, a 19 inch color television, a Winchester 16 gauge shotgun, a 380 Colt automatic and a Smith and Wesson revolver.

Belleville police were notified and some of the items in the trailer were tentatively identified.

'Don't do the crime if you can't do the time'

The name of the theme song of a police television show "Don't do the crime if you can't do the time" is really good advice, according to Lieutenant Jack Fields, superintendent of the Madison County jail.

Fields spoke last week at a meeting of Madison Explorer Post 10-4.

"No one really has any idea what jail is really like, unless they have actually been in one," Fields said.

"In your recent study of criminal justice you have had the public defender, the state's attorney and the criminal judge. What happens when after the arrest the judge sets bond at $200,000?"

"The suspect cannot be kept in a city jail for more than 72 hours, because they have no guards to watch the prisoners 24 hours a day."

"A mittimus paper is obtained and the suspect is sent to the county jail until bail is made. And many times, people cannot make bail," Fields said.

He explained that when the person is brought into the jail he is first "booked in" with all needed information, including the name, address, authority for holding and other data needed for jail records.

After being booked the prisoner must take a shower and then is issued a red jumpsuit and shower shoes, fingerprinted and photographed.

"We take away the person's shoes, because inside most shoes is a metal strip that makes one dandy little dagger," Fields noted.

"A prisoner is normally allowed to make a phone call or two. Actually, the number of telephone calls is up to the authorities and all calls are made collect."

"When this is all taken care of he is then put into a cell block with about 80 other prisoners."

"In the old jail it is impossible to segregate prisoners by offense, so unfortunately we have persons accused of armed violence, murder, sex offense, homosexuals and traffic offenders all together. This is not a good situation, but we are stuck with it for the time being."

"The new county jail will let us use a classification by offense system."

"At 6 a.m. everyone wakes up for breakfast. It costs taxpayers $1.32 per meal and about $28 a day per prisoner to be kept in jail."

"We have a $700,000 proposed budget for the coming year."

"On Monday, Wednesday and Saturday prisoners may order candy and cookies, if they have the money. Soda is not allowed because a bottle and even the cans can make weapons," Fields said.

"Being locked up for even short periods of time will drive a person literally up a wall."

"We have had prisoners cut their wrists and injure themselves in other ways just to go to the doctor. Why? Just to get out of that jail for even an hour or two."

"There has never been a suicide in the Madison County jail, although we have one or more attempts a week."

"First, we have been just plain lucky and, second, there is prevention by constant watching of the prisoners by the jail staff."

"We have had prisoners eat lightbulbs and swallow nails—just anything to get out."

Fields traced the history of Madison County jails from one that cost $350 in 1807 and was located in Venice, to the new jail being completed at a cost of $4.7 million.

He said the current 111 year old jail has held up well and is old but clean.

Among the more infamous prisoners to be kept in the county jail was James Earl Ray, a burglar from Alton and later the murderer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The first two jail guards were hired in 1870 when it was felt that desperate criminals should be watched. The jail staff today has 22 jailers, three cooks, two nurses and a yard man.

In 1894, Fields said, it was felt by the county authorities that lights should be installed at a cost not to be over $5 a month; the current light bill runs $100,000 per year, the superintendent noted.

The first person hanged was Elphaba Green, who murdered a fellow employee on Christmas Eve in 1823. He was hanged just off Springfield Road, in a creek

JAIL ROUTINE can be dull and times have changed since March 1885, when the Madison County "calaboose" was built in Venice. Lieutenant Jack Fields, second from left, reviews some of the early years of the county jail with members of Explorer Post 10-4 in Madison. Fields bottom near Edwardsville. Total cost to the county was $39.08. The cost included burial, coffin, gallows, rope and hook, shrouded cap and grave digging.

Fields called attention to a booklet written by Evelyn Bowles, now county clerk. "History of the Madison County Jail 1814-1906."

Fields told the Explorers they can be proud of Explorer Post 10-4, as everyone in the Madison County Courthouse knows and respects them.

2 neighboring garages looted

Neighbors in the 2600 block of Center Street reported within a 30-minute period that their garages had been burglarized.

Jerry Gray, 2601 Center St., said at 6:15 p.m. Thursday that someone had pried the lock from his garage, located at the rear of the dwelling, and stolen several items.

Known to be missing prior to an inventory being completed were a special blue and yellow racing bicycle, valued at $221, a power drill worth $25, and numerous wrenches and sockets sets, among other tools.

At 6:45 p.m. Thursday, Chester Eggle, 2609 Center, said his garage was entered and a green box containing assorted tools, valued at $250, was taken.

Four injured on Rapp Road

Four persons were injured in a one-car auto accident at 6:30 p.m. Thursday on Rapp Road, about 250 feet from Lake Drive.

Otis White, 20, of St. Joseph, Mo., driver of the vehicle, was taken to Firms Desloge Hospital for a possible head injury in addition to chest, back and hand pains.

White was issued a traffic citation for driving too fast for conditions by the Madison County sheriff's department.

Passengers in the car who were X-rayed, treated and released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center were:

Kenneth White Sr., 41, of 5014 Lakeview Drive, who was thrown from the car, suffering head and back pains plus multiple contusions.

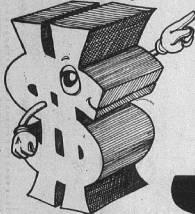

Kenneth White Jr., 18, of 5014 Lakeview, unconscious at the scene and receiving head and back pains.

Walter Westbrook, 21, of 5101 Rapp Road, treated for a small laceration to the forehead and neck and back pains.

The auto, southbound on Rapp Road, is believed to have gone out of control on gravel near sewer line construction, crossing lanes, striking a concrete sewer and coming to rest in a field.

HOME BURGLARY

Gordon Caldwell, 2538 Pine St., last week discovered his home had been burglarized. Among the items taken, with a total value of over $2,000, were a color television, an eight track multi-speaker stereo system, $100 in cash and an estimated $1,000 worth of clothing.

Television lights were glaring and cameras were whirring and clicking here Thursday as news men and women crowded into a conference room in the downtown Granite City building occupied by the Associated Retailers and Chamber of Commerce.

The occasion was a press conference at which five public officials criticized a legal fee paid for work related to a municipal bond issue providing low-interest home mortgages here.

Later in the day, the two main targets of the press conference, City Attorney Lance Callis and Mayor Paul Schuler, voiced their views of the issue and disagreed with nearly everything that had been said at the press conference. Some voters indicated they felt they were hearing—in mid-winter of early 1980—the opening salvo of the spring-1981 city election campaign, an election still about 15 months away. Others said the fee discussion stands on its own merits.

The five officials said Callis should have done the work without charging any more than his basic salary as part-time city attorney.

The three City Council members present said they voted for the bond issue legal work in the belief that there would be no added fee. They and Callis both called on the Madison County state's attorney to rule whether the prosecutor feels there is a conflict of interest.

Callis said a grand total of $15,000 was paid (not from city or mortgage funds but from the underwriters' fee) to him and his law partner, Larry Hartman, for legal services performed and travel expenses incurred in arranging for the bond issue.

Callis said his salary arrangement with the city does not contemplate free work on such extensive tasks as the mortgage bond issue.

Mayor Schuler attributed the surprise press conference to political motives. Schuler ran in 1973 against the late Mayor Donald Partney Sr. and in 1977 against Dan Partney; the latter is expected to run again in 1981 and was the principal spokesman at the press conference.

The mayor said there was nothing improper about the legal contract. He rejected descriptions of Callis as his chief political adviser, instead saying the lawyer is a moderately active supporter who provides advice both as city attorney and as a good friend.

'The Jinx:' West wrestlers edge Warriors

Press-Record Sports

GRANITE CITY (III.) PRESS-RECORD, Monday, Jan. 14, 1980—9

much pressure," said South's Phil Beljanski. "The guys weren't acting the same all week. I couldn't even watch the first two matches tonight because I was so nervous. I had to go sit by myself."

"Yeah, I'm sure the kids felt a lot of pressure,"

North wrestlers win—pg. 11 agreed West coach John Wehmeier. "Maybe too much."

And so with everyone's nerves apparently on edge, Belleville West and Granite South wrestlers spent much of the night looking as if they were trying to avoid losing, rather than going for a win. The result was a conservative wrestling match that failed to provide even one pin.

"There wasn't one fall the entire match," Schmitt said while shaking his head. "Either that's because people were too conservative, or nobody knows how to pin."

But while both clubs played it close to the vest when on the mat, they displayed a great deal of emotion on the sidelines.

Wrestlers frequently shouted encouragement to their teammates, complained bitterly about calls and took losing very badly.

When West's Dan Hemmer defeated 185-pound Rich James 4-1 to guarantee a Belleville victory, a couple of South wrestlers cried openly.

Wehmeier thought the key to his club's victory was an injury to South's 105-pound Rick Presswood, which forced South to juggle its starting lineup. Presswood suffered a dislocated elbow in a match with Peoria-Richwood a week earlier and Schmitt was forced to move Chris Cottrell into the 105-pound class and have Mike Trgovich sub for Cottrell in the 98-pound class.

"I had us about even coming into the match," said Wehmeier. "But when I saw they had to move their 98-pounder up to 105 I knew we would win at 98, and I figured we would win the meet."

Trgovich did indeed lose to West's Tim Partelon 10-8, and Belleville jumped off to a 3-0 lead.

South's Cottrell then won at 105 and Greg Garland beat Jeff Earhardt 4-3 to give South a 6-3 lead. It would be the only time the Warriors would hold a lead.

West reeled off four straight wins as Dave Harris beat Randy Lupardus 6-0 at 119 pounds, Bud Dahm beat Rodney Lupardus 7-2 at 126 pounds, Keith Hernandez picked up a major decision victory, 11-3, over 132-pound Phil Beljanski and Bob Muren also got a major decision over Tom McElroy at 138 pounds.

Belleville had taken a 17-6 lead when the pride of the Warriors, 145-pound Dean Perkins, picked up five big points for South with a superior decision win over Andy Wilkinson. (Continued on Page 10)

Venice wins two straight

ST. LOUIS — Early in the first quarter of Venice High's prep basketball game against Sumner High of St. Louis, Venice coach Ken Perkins called time out. He didn't like what he was seeing.

Even though his team was ahead by four points, Perkins was not pleased. The problem was that his team was looking at a mirror image of themselves in Sumner. Sumner played the same defenses Venice did, ran the same offense as Venice did. It was causing the Red Devils of Venice some problems.

But the problem for Sumner was that it didn't do the same things Venice did as well as the Red Devils. After that brief pep talk by Perkins, Venice proceeded to blow out the Sumner squad 28-14 in the first quarter and coasted in with a 76-46 victory over the larger team.

The win, combined with a Friday night's 62-24 victory over Livingston on the road, gave Venice a record of 8-6, the first time the team has been over .500 since the first game of the season.

"We weren't reacting good to Sumner's press early," said Perkins. "It was causing us some problems. But we turned it around and started playing tough defense against them."

Defense. The meal-ticket of champions. Venice's defense was important in both weekend victories. Saturday against Sumner, the Red Devils put the clamps on the running and gunning offense of their opponents. Friday, they nearly strangled a good Livingston team.

Against Livingston, the Red Devils held their opponents to only four points in the first quarter and eight in the second.

Venice was outscored by Livingston 14-9 in the third period, but that came mainly against substitutes. "It's hard to stay intense against a team when you're up 32-12 at halftime," said Perkins. "Heck, we really should have been ahead 50-12, but we missed an awful lot of layups."

But besides the missed layups, Perkins said he had very little to complain about in his team's play over the weekend. "I'm just as happy as I can be," he said. "I mean, we played superb defense. The kids are playing their hearts out."

Venice held all but one player out of double-figures. But one player did a number on the Red Devils.

Sumner's John Rowe, a 6'2" freshman sensation, pumped in 28 points from all over the court. Venice defenders stuck their hands in his face, double-teamed him, but just about everything but take out a gun and shoot him. But he kept firing away. And they usually went in.

"He was hitting from 40 feet like it was nothing," said Perkins. "There was no way to stop him."

But Rowe could shoot away all he wanted. Venice had a couple of hot-shots of its own. Brothers Donald and Archie Gardner combined for 45 points, Donald with 23 and Archie with 22. James Cox also hit double figures with 15.

Coming off the bench, Cox has become a valuable asset to Perkins' team. "He's probably the best guard I've got," he said. "He's a good sixth man and we need some fire coming in off the bench."

What caused the turn-around of Venice's fortunes? In a word: Altamont.

After getting a 20-point-plus trashing Jan. 5 at Altamont, the Red Devils decided to change their approach, according to Perkins. "I did my share of yelling at them," he said. "But this has had to come from them. I think they decided themselves to get a little more serious about the game and give it all they've got."

Before the season began, Perkins thought his club would do well to play around 500. But now, his thoughts have changed. "I honestly think we're better than a 500 team now," he said. "A whole lot better."

Pairings released for Dupo Tourney

DUPO — The pairings for the annual Dupo Invitational Basketball Tournament have been released.

The tournament begins tonight and will continue through Saturday night's championship game. There are seven teams participating in the affair.

Madison's Trojans, the defending tournament champions, will play Wednesday night against the winner of tonight's game between Columbia and Belleville's St. Henry Prep.

The starting time for tonight's game is set for 6:30. It is the only game scheduled for tonight.

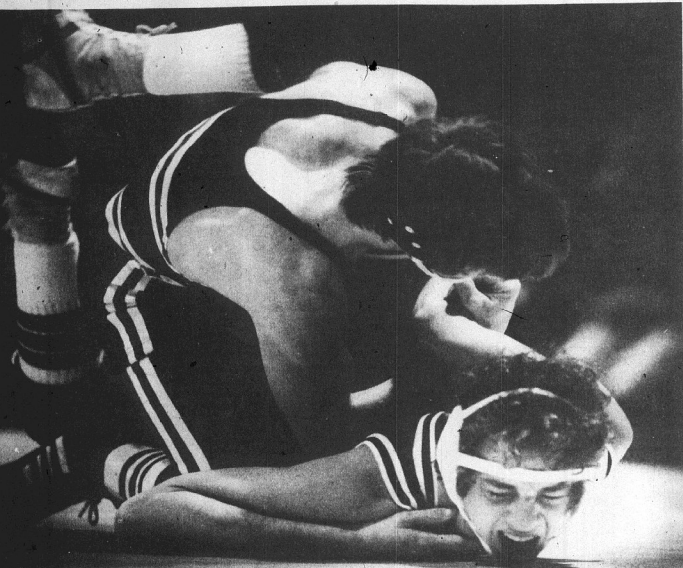

Tuesday, two games will be featured. At 6:30 p.m., Brooklyn-Lovejoy will face Valmeyer. At 8 p.m., the host Dupo Tigers will battle with Country Day High of St. Louis.

Wednesday night's Madison game is the only one scheduled for that night. It is set for 6:30 p.m. Because of the seven-team setup, it was needed for one team to receive a bye in the first round. Madison was seeded first in the tournament and was awarded the first round pass to the semifinals.

Thursday night, the winner of the Dupo-Country Day contest will face the winner of the Valmeyer-Lovejoy game at 8 p.m. That will be preceded by a game between the losers of those two games at 6 p.m.

Friday, the loser of the Columbia-St. Henry game will face the winner of the Valmeyer-Lovejoy game at 8 p.m. The third place game will be at 7:30 with the championship set for 9 p.m.

Steelers give Tigers fits

EDWARDSVILLE — Late in the first quarter of Saturday night's Granite North-Edwardsville prep basketball game, Edwardsville's Dan Allaria appeared to throw the ball away, over everyone's heads and out of bounds. But a referee ruled that a North Steeler had jumped up and touched the ball before it went out, and awarded it to Edwardsville. Steeler head coach Bill Ohlendorf jumped to his feet and yelled at the official, "everyone's heads and out of bounds. But a referee ruled that a North Steeler had jumped up and touched the ball before it went out, and awarded it to Edwardsville. Steeler head coach Bill Ohlendorf jumped to his feet Too short indeed. The Steelers, whose tallest player stands 6'2", carried the game right to the Tigers all night long before finally succumbing 71-66 in a Gateway East conference game. But don't blame North for the loss. Blame Mother Nature. For in the end, it was height that spelled doom for the Steelers.

Edwardsville's sophomore sensation, 6'6" center Paul Schaefer got loose for 21 points, most of them early in the game, but enough to pull off the win for the Tigers, who earlier in the season whipped North in Granite City by 17 points. Friday night, Edwardsville gave mighty Collinsville a tussle before falling 74-64.

In a nutshell, it was red-hot Steeler shooting that gave them the lead for most of the game. After falling behind by two, 6-4, North took the lead on a couple of long-range baskets by guard Bob Batey to take an 8-6 margin. It was nip-and-tuck the rest of the way.

Batey wasn't the only Steeler hitting. They all were. Dennis Page shook off a slow start and had one of his finest games from the floor, hitting on seven of ten attempts. He was four-of-four from the free throw line.

North hit a scorching 28 of 42 field goal attempts and was 12 of 13 from the free throw line. You can't shoot much better than that. But it was the lack of a tall post man that glared in the faces of the North coaching staff. "Heck, it's nothing new," said Ohlendorf. "We've known it since the end of last season. We just have to try and make up for it in other ways and try and make it not be quite as evident."

Edwardsville head coach Bud Valmeyer must have felt lucky to get out of the gymnasium with his scalp and still a shot at winning the Gateway East Conference championship. His club trailed North by four at halftime and didn't appear too enthusiastic about trimming the lead as the second half began. But the Tigers managed to stay within striking range.

That proved to be important in the third period when North hit a two-minute slump. "You take that slump away from it and we win," said Ohlendorf. "But they changed their defensive setup against us and we didn't adjust quickly enough. It hurt us."

During that two-minute

Warriors Marooned

Perkins piled up points enroute to a 23-10 victory through an unusual method. Having discovered early in the match that Wilkinson was more interested in avoiding a pin than in wrestling, Perkins knew the only way he would pick up points was to resort to a bit of strategy. While on top of Wilkinson, Perkins would stand up and let his opponent pick up an escape point, but then would quickly jump back on top of the Maroon to score two points for a takedown. Perkins resorted to this ploy about 10 different times throughout the match.

Wehmeier complained to referee George Halsey midway in the second period that Perkins "wasn't breaking completely" with Wilkinson and should not be given takedown points.

West's Dave Self followed Perkins' win by mopping up on 155-pound Drue Clement for a 10-0 major decision win to put Belleville in front 21-11.

The only way South could pull out a victory now was to win the last three matches, and one of those had to be by a major decision.

Scott Polson kept South's chances alive by scoring three points in the last eight seconds of his match with 167-pound George Papproth to gain a major decision win 9-0. But West put South away as heavily favored Dan Hemmer beat South's 185-pound Rich James 4-1. South's heavyweight, Bruce Monohan, finished the night with a meaningless 10-2 win over Belleville's Tony Summers to make the final score 24-19.

"The meet was pretty exciting for awhile," said Wehmeier. "Then we won four in a row in the middle weights and that about clinched it for us."

"This is a big win for us. South is the team you shoot for every year. They're the best in the area," he said.

HONORED IN MITCHELL. Loris Boyer (Mrs. Glen Boyer) was honored by the staff of Mitchell School at a retirement dinner in her honor after 36 years of service as a cook at Mitchell School.

Truant officer praises Venice school system

John Neiheisel, who deals with chronic truancy problems in the Venice School District under a contract with Coordinated Youth Services, a United Way agency, described some of the tasks he faces to members of the Venice Board of Education Thursday night.

Neiheisel performs the service only one day a week and "sometimes by the time the next week comes around, it is almost like starting over again," he said.

"I work with a few families that get awful sick of seeing me," he commented, mentioning that he must return to the homes of some Venice students on a regular basis.

Neiheisel said he believes that most families with children who frequently fail to attend school are "really good at knowing what a school district is going to do."

in regard to its chronic truants.

"My going out there to see what is going to do too much good if action isn't taken," he said.

The social worker complimented Venice teachers, saying that he receives good support information from them.

"The teachers provide a very good resource," he added.

Neiheisel was accompanied to the meeting by C. A. "Bud" MacMillan, CVS executive director, who expressed appreciation to the board noting that Venice "is a pleasant system to work with and it is a pleasure to deal with Bob (Supt. Robert Vickers) and members of his staff."

In other action, Board President Jack Tolliver presented an engraved plaque to Mrs. Shirley Foote, who has served as secretary in the superintendent's office and grade school principal's office for the past 17 years and is leaving the system.

Supt. Vickers commented that "Shirley has been one of the most faithful employees in this district and a great help to me."

"You could open up the door on any given morning and know that Shirley was going to be there and this means a lot. I am going to miss you, Shirley," he said.

"I can support Mr. Vickers in what he just said. You have assisted the district in many ways in helping us to accomplish our needs," Tolliver said.

Mrs. Foote expressed her appreciation to the board, noting that one or two of the board members were high school students when she first started in the school system.

Charge two in incident

Two people have been charged so far in connection with one of two incidents, believed to be related, which occurred Jan. 5, involving four men and two women.

Teresa J. Harris, 31, of 2804 Sunbury Ave., was charged last week with unlawful use of a weapon after police alleged finding a gun in her purse at Keith's Lounge, 2701 Washington Ave.

Charged Jan. 8, also with unlawful use of a weapon, was Herbert L. Lynn, 33, of 2869 Iowa St., who had been in St. Elizabeth Medical Center since the previous Saturday night for treatment of a cut or stab wound to the leg.

Police were called to the tavern on a report a man had a gun. Five people were questioned and three weapons were seized, including one gun from a chair seat, it was alleged.

Lynn, who was in the tavern, had suffered a cut on the leg. He was admitted at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The tavern incident followed an occurrence 30 minutes earlier when three shots were fired at a father and daughter in a vehicle on Ames Avenue and Nankin Road. One shot struck the vehicle's roof above the head of the girl passenger.

Similar descriptions of a man in the shooting incident and one at the tavern caused investigators to ask for a ballistics test to compare slugs from the auto and those in weapons found at the tavern.

One of the weapons recovered, a .357 caliber magnum, was loaded with two armor-piercing bullets and a super velocity bullet, police said.

Others present during the tavern incident are not being identified, pending additional investigation and possible filing of charges.

$1,000 RINGS LOST
White gold wedding and engagement rings worth a combined total of $1,000, left on a restroom wash basin at Charlie's Restaurant, had disappeared when the owner, Sharon Thomas of Glen Carbon, went to retrieve them a few moments later, she reported Thursday. The diamond and blue sapphire rings were joined together.

WED. Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Roark who exchanged wedding vows at City Temple Assembly of God Church. The bride is the former Nancy R. Noble, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonzo Ray, 2411 Illinois Ave. (Laurie Photo)

City Temple scene of Roark-Noble wedding

Wedding vows were exchanged by Nancy R. Noble and Frank J. Roark as they stood within an archway decorated with yellow, blue and peach carnations, intermingled with greenery, in the sanctuary of City Temple Assembly of God Church on Oct. 6.

Candlelight illuminated the church for the double ring ceremony at 7 p.m. performed by the Rev. Jack Howard and host pastor, the Rev. Eugene Cope.

Organist Virgie Collins accompanied soloists, Cindy Dahm, Patti Hutchinson and Barbara Campbell. They sang, "Wedding Song," "You Light Up My Life," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Lonzo Ray, reside at 2411 Illinois Ave. The groom is a son of Mrs. Gertrude Miles, 580 Larry Elliott Drive, Ballwin, Mo.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Lonzo Ray Jr., the bride wore a formal gown fashioned of ivory organza and designed with an Empire bodice with a high collar lavishly accented with Cluny and Venice lace edged with seed pearls. The bishop style sleeves terminated with wide lace cuffs edged with a self ruffle.

Her A-line skirt was encircled with a deep ruffled flounce topped with a lace band, and extended into a chapel train.

She wore lace bordered veil secured with a lace headband and she carried a cascade bouquet of ivory carnations interspersed with rose buds in apricot, yellow and aqua hues and baby's breath.

Maid of honor Miss Sue Ray, a sister of the bride and bridesmaid, Mrs. Lonzo Ray, the bride's sister, wore a cascade of long pleated dresses in a yellow print. They were created with a halter bodice, long pleated skirts and complemented with jackets featuring flare sleeves. Each held a nosegay of blue and yellow carnations.

Serving as junior bride and groom were Tammy Jones, a niece of the bride, and Ronald Noble, the bride's son.

Julie Loeffel, a niece of the groom, and Todd Morgan, the bride's cousin, were flower girl and ringbearer, respectively.

She was dressed in a yellow organza floor length frock made with short sleeves, a high ruffled neckline and full skirt enhanced with a ruffle which

Governor favors tax rollback authority

Governor James R. Thompson called for the General Assembly in his State of the State message last week to act to avert "at least $225 million in extra tax bills this spring" for the state's property taxpayers.

"We must act right now to stop the robbery of Illinois property taxpayers that I've been warning about since last August," the governor said.

Thompson has warned that some local governments were increasing taxes under the guise of replacement for revenues lost when their corporate personal property tax was abolished.

The state's replacement plan for the lost tax since then has been upheld by the Illinois Supreme Court, but few local governments have rolled back their taxes, he said. The new plan is producing more revenue than the old tax, Thompson added.

The governor reported to the lawmakers that his monitoring of the situation shows tax bills going into the mail this spring will be "demanding an average of 13 percent more from all of our taxpayers' pockets and more than 20 percent more from nearly a third of the people you and I represent. We cannot let this happen."

Specifically, Thompson called for quick passage of Senate Bill 1292, which would put a lid on the increase to 10 percent, chopping out $225 million from the expected bills.

The legislation is one of a series of tax lid bills inroduced by Thompson following passage of the "Thompson proposition" in November 1978.

The governor further urged the General Assembly to complete action on pending tax and spending bills to carry out the Thompson proposition's mandate as follows:

1. Limit the growth of state and local government to at or below the growth rate in personal income.

2. Require the state to maintain reserves adequate for emergencies.

3. Allow voters to reject state tax increases that do not receive a three-fifths majority in the General Assembly, and permit local taxpayers to roll back their taxes by up to 15 percent by a majority referendum approval.

4. Mandate a "truth-in-taxation" providing that before a tax levy increase, taxing units must publish notices, hold public hearings and take public action to raise the levies even within allowable limits.

No such provisions now exist in the law.

"Your action to write these principles into our laws and Constitution would at once demonstrate your commitment to the ideal of a balanced, controlled government and protect our people from any future elected leaders who might not share such a commitment," Thompson said.

"The budget for fiscal year 1980-81 that I will propose in March will reflect that ideal. Its bottom line will be in careful balance with our needs and our people's ability to pay."

Reporting on the state's financial picture, the governor said, "We have reason to be confident. Our financial condition is sound."

"Indeed, in the teeth of the Chicago schools' crisis we have retained our AAA bond rating. And on the heels of the agreement of the previous weekend, we easily sold $150 million in general obligation bonds Jan. 8 at an excellent rate."

"We have achieved for Illinois state government a proper balance of purpose, policies and performance."

"But we also have reason to be cautious, for that balance could be all too easily upset by the chill winds of recession, the waves of inflation or national and global economic forces beyond our control, the whims of petty politics, or the weakening of our will to stand firm on the solid ground we have won."

"We have made government better, not bigger."

"It is a record of elected leaders who have listened to the people's demand for government in balance with reality, government in balance with their means and, most importantly, government in balance with their expectations."

Thompson said.

In describing the Chicago schools' settlement which the General Assembly will consider, the governor said: "We must act, and act now, to make it possible for the schools of Chicago to survive the effects of a decade of mismanagement."

"Our failure to act would make half a million children, their families and their teachers innocent pawns in a fiscal catastrophe that could undermine the stability of a great city and, ultimately, of the state of Illinois."

"The hard-won agreement you are asked to ratify will not put Chicago's schools into receivership. It will put them on the road to solvency."

"It is not a bail-out. It is not a sell-out of the 1,000 other Illinois school districts that have done their job, and done it well. And it is not a cop-out on the state's taxpayers or on our hard-won, strong fiscal condition."

"Ninety-four percent of the financing must come from Chicago, together with the imposition of a strong fiscal control board as overseer."

"These are more stringent conditions than have ever been placed in any other school district in this state when they have asked for our help."

Thompson stressed a need to "make our tax system more equitable. Let's worry about what we're doing to the people's tax bills."

"I will listen to any responsible tax relief proposal. I urge that every member of this Assembly be equally open to any such proposal."

The governor listed "long-overdue, long-needed initiatives" which will be included in his fiscal year 1980-81 budget, including:

A. Conversion of every feasible state government and state university facility from oil and gas to Illinois coal through up-front capital investment, to be repaid by future savings on energy costs and in the encouragement of those in other states to look first at Illinois coal. "It is time for us to do more to help ourselves...out of bondage to the OPEC cartel," the governor said.

B. Land banking for preservation of lands in their natural state for future public use and enjoyment.

C. Creation of a Hazardous Waste Authority "to help make sure toxic wastes are safely and permanently put away."

D. Action to further guarantee that operation of nuclear industries and the disposal of their wastes are done safely.

E. Continued movement toward a goal of 100 percent use of gasoline by the state fleet late next year. No vehicles will be converted to gasoline if they cannot use it, he stressed.

F. New initiatives in economic and community development to help attract new jobs to Illinois and keep the ones now here.

G. Reforms and improvements in the state's unemployment, insurance and Workers' Compensation programs to rein in growing costs.

H. Economies proposed by the Governor's Cost Control Task Force, in addition to a score of such proposals introduced last year which await legislative action.

I. Further reorganization of state agencies and strengthening of others to provide a better focus on infant mortality rates, children and families, troubled youths, and the regulation of professions and businesses.

In summing up what is ahead, the governor said:

"The people we are privileged to serve, the 11 million people of Illinois, are looking to us for nothing more than the kind of balanced agenda I have outlined."

"To the extent we succeed, we will be responding to the realities of our times and the priorities of our people. To the extent that we fail, we will be turning our backs on both."

Dan Bilbrey missionary behind the Iron Curtain

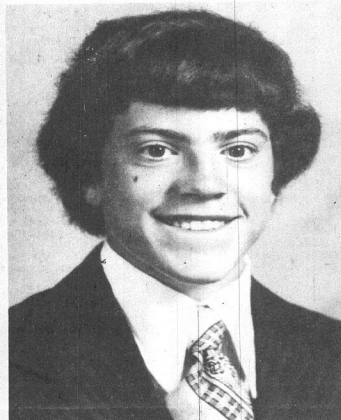

By DONNA HARTWICK
of the Press-Record

With the world situation at a seemingly chaotic condition and personal safety a major concern, especially for traveling Americans, Dan Bilbrey, 22, still plans to depart this month for Eastern Europe to begin his life as an independent missionary.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bilbrey Jr. of Greenburg, Ind., formerly of Venice and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Bilbrey, reside in Venice.

Dan will leave for Vienna, Austria, his jumping-off point, and hopes to spend three years behind the Iron Curtain as a graduate student and cultural study as a graduate student to enable him to better understand and communicate the message of Christ. The remaining two years will include continuing his studies and spreading the word of God in the more or less hostile environment of Communist bloc countries where religious propaganda is not readily tolerated.

The religious intolerance of the communist doctrine prompted the young man to go under cover as a graduate student rather than an

During his overseas sojourn the 1975 graduate of Greensburg Community High School plans to send prayer letters back home to his supporters bringing them up to date on his spiritual mission.

Pelican Island wilderness park plans discussed

James Farrell from the advanced planning division of the St. Louis County Department of Parks and Recreation will discuss Pelican Island and plans for its use at tonight's 7:30 meeting of the Piassa Parklandes Sierra Club at the First Presbyterian Church, 4th and Abby streets, Alton.

Pelican Island, approximately 2,287 acres of wilderness in the Missouri River on the northern boundary of St. Louis County, has a jungle-wild interior and a sand beach. It is occasionally covered with flood waters.

It is separated from the southern shore by the "Car of Commerce Chute," named for a packet steamer wrecked in the chute's narrow confines during a drouth before the turn of the century.

Three miles long by one and a half miles at its widest point, the park will be the largest in the county's system.

Wildlife abounds on the property, including birds, beaver, deer and reptiles. A tangle of cottonwoods, willows, sycamores, vines, briars and other plants combines to make parts of the island impenetrable.

It is proposed that the land be developed as a "wilderness" park. As a park, the island would be a "paradise" for backpackers, hikers, sunbathers and nature students, advocates say. A public hearing was held in December to allow citizen input for formulation of land use planning for the island.

Discussed at the hearing were access to the island, public facilities, planned construction, traffic and parking as well as potential recreational and educational uses.

Farrell anticipates another hearing in the spring so that the public can comment on recreation use and management options that the St. Louis County Parks and Recreation Department determines are appropriate.

"Pelican Island is an important area near us, so please join us and be informed about future use of the island," a Sierra spokesman commented.

New president of the United Way is Albert H. Froemling, who is president of Madison County Federal and of the Froemling Agency, Inc. Madison County Federal's Paul Sodko has been active during the past year as UW budget allocation committee chairman.

Re-elected as a TCAUW vice-president was William P. Donovan, works manager of the American Steel Foundries plant. Replacing Robert F. Means as a UW vice-president was George J. Knecht, Means is the United Steelworkers of America sub-district director and Knecht, chairman of this fall's UW campaign, is a Steelworkers staff representative.

Changing from secretary to treasurer is Denise Wright of the Union Electric Company's Venice power plant. She succeeds as treasurer John W. Blasingame of Granite City Realty. New secretary is David Anderson of American Steel Foundries.

Retiring as president was Paul J. Costello of Granite City Steel. He presented a gift to UW Executive Director Albert F. King, who had presented award plaques to Costello, Knecht and Sodko.

Aside from ex-officio members of the ten-member executive committee (traditionally the five officers and two immediate past presidents), the gathering elected as the other three members Paul H. Kelly, Dunn and Joe Levanowicz. Kelly, a past UW president, is the A. O. Smith Corp. plant manager.

Elected as board members were Donovan, Anderson, Sodko, Dunn, Levanowicz, Roger Higgins, William Kaseberg, John Ubaldi, Henry Crippen and Bill Butler.

Knecht was praised by the contributors and board for leading the United Way to record drive receipts of $666,458, including $542,304 in industry, construction and transportation, $61,790 in commercial and business, $31,939 in professions, $25,204 in government and $5,221 in special contributions.

Allocations approved for 1980 total $683,673. Budget talks are planned with the Salvation Army. In addition, at the request of Red Cross board members present, Costello said UW and Red Cross budget panels are to meet Jan. 29.

BERT'S 1910 DELMAR 877-7600

Developer unhappy with discussion of water table

By JUDY TAPLIN

A Madison County developer has accused the Madison County Soil and Water Conservation District of not doing its job properly and of attempting to "aggravate" him.

The land, which lies partly in both Collinsville and Nameoki townships, is north of the present Arlington Heights subdivision and some of the tracts are on the west side of the Arlington Golf Course.

Because the property lies in a flood-plain, the developers are required to obtain a variance from Madison County.

The hearing, by the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals, was on that request.

The zoning board has not yet released its recommendation on the request but is expected to do so soon. The Madison County board will make the final decision.

Sasysk and Dutko developed Arlington Subdivision, and Sasysk is the owner of the golf course.

A report from the Soil and Water Conservation District was read at the hearing. The report said the water level in the spring might be as high as ground level on the property.

Specifically, it listed three types of soil on the property. For two of them the water table in the spring could be from zero to two feet below the surface; for the third, it could be zero to three feet below the surface.

The report questioned whether any type of septic system would work with a water table that high.

When Firkus began questioning Sasysk about the potential problem later in the hearing, the developer said the Soil and Water Conservation District had given him "this same malarkey" when he attempted to develop 577 acres in the American Bottoms several years ago (an area between Routes 157 and 111).

It had cost him a lot of money to prove the district wrong at that time, he said.

"You're (the district) just interested in aggravating people," an angry Sasysk said, and he refused to answer more questions from Firkus.

Firkus later said he had never met Sasysk before. He said the soil survey maps being prepared for all of Madison County are in part designed to warn developers and potential homeowners of possible environmental hazards.

He said Sasysk apparently sees the conservation district's attempts in another light, as a vendetta against him personally.

During the hearing, Sasysk said the residences would have individual sewer systems in which sewage would be treated before it went into the ground. They system would be similar to, but not the same as, a typical septic system, he said.

Dutko said each house would in effect have an individual sewage treatment plant itself, with the "finished" effluent going into the ground.

Several area residents had questions for Sasysk. What were the developers' plans for drainage? Would farm animals be allowed on the tracts? What restrictions would there be and who would uphold them?

Sasysk said the developers were going to "considerable cost" to make sure drainage was adequate. The subdivision lies approximately three feet lower than Arlington Heights.

The developers do not plan to bring in fill, but Sasysk said the homes will be elevated to 14 to 18 inches off the ground and there will be no basements allowed.

No farm animals would be permitted, and there would be restrictions in the subdivision which it would be the duty of a homeowners' association to enforce.

Sasysk said the homes will cost about $95,000 to $100,000 each. He and Dutko both indicated they might themselves each buy a tract.

Madison County Zoning Administrator Paul Hawkins said he believes the 14 to 18 inches of elevation planned by the developers would be sufficient for construction in the floodplain because of the drainage plan contemplated.

Using the proper technology, he said, "you can build almost anywhere."

A spokesman for the Department of Public Health said typical septic tanks would not work in an area with a water table as high as the soils survey indicated.

However, he said there are several types of private systems that do work in such conditions.

Public Notice 34

Notice of Public Hearing
Re: Capital Equipment FY 1980

I Notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held by Bi-State Development Agency at the Ambassador Building, 411 North 7th Street, Room 1105, St. Louis, Missouri, on February 13, 1980. The hearing, which is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. is for the purpose of considering the project as described herein, for which Federal capital assistance under Section 5 of the Urban Mass Transportation Act of 1964, as amended, is being sought.

A. Description of Project: This project consists of capital equipment required by Bi-State Development Agency to properly operate the St. Louis area's mass transit system in FY 1980. More specifically, Bi-State needs to:

(1) purchase 25 to 79 Standard Transit Coaches estimated at $10,700,000.

(2) purchase 6 to 68 Mobile Two-Way Radios estimated at $143,000.

(3) purchase 3 sets of Spare Bus Assemblies estimated at $45,000.

(4) In 1979 Bi-State applied for Section 5 funding from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration to:

purchase 19 Advance Design Transit Coaches, and refurbish 90 Overage Transit Coaches.

After the filing of the Fiscal Year 1979 Section 5 grant, Bi-State decided to concentrate on buying new buses instead of rehabilitating older buses. The grant filed previously was therefore abandoned.

This new grant application contains details that were available in Fiscal Year 1979 with those available in Fiscal Year 1980.

(5) Bi-State's service area includes St. Louis City, St. Louis County and Jefferson County in Missouri. The Illinois counties of Madison, St. Clair and Monroe are also served by Bi-State transit services.

(4) An estimated net project cost of $12,195,000 has been identified. Bi-State will request a Federal grant of $9,756,000 from the Urban Mass Transportation Administration for this project while the remaining $2,439,000 will be provided from local sources. Local financial assistance for this project will be provided through the Missouri half cent transportation sales tax and by funds contributed through the Illinois Department of Transportation's Capital Assistance Program.

"No person, families, or businesses will be displaced by this project."

C. Environmental: This project will not have a significant environmental impact upon the urban area.

D. Comprehensive Planning: This project is in conformance with comprehensive transportation planning in the St. Louis area and is consistent with the adopted programming of the Transportation Improvement Program.

E. Elderly and Handicapped: The design of the project herein will take into consideration the special needs of the elderly and handicapped.

F. Charter Bus Operations: Bi-State Development Agency does not engage in any school bus operations exclusively for the transportation of students or school personnel.

II. At the hearing, Bi-State Development Agency will afford an opportunity for interested persons or agencies to be heard with respect to the social, environmental, and economic aspects of the project. Interested persons may submit orally in writing evidence and recommendations with respect to said project(s).

III. The Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) prepare a formal statement of the environmental impact of the project, the availability of such statement from UMTA will be made known by publication of the notice of public hearing.

IV. A copy of the application and agency for the proposed project, together with an environmental analysis, the results of the analysis, and the transit improvement program for the area served by the project, will be made available for public inspection at Bi-State Development Agency, 411 North 7th Street, St. Louis, Missouri 63101, between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.
